

CELEBRATING SINGAPORE BOTANIC GARDENS' 150TH ANNIVERSARY IN 2009

Throughout its long and illustrious history, the Singapore Botanic Gardens (SBG) has played an integral role in Singapore's cultural, social and economic development. While the Gardens remains true to its original purpose as an institution for botanical and horticultural research and education, it has also evolved into a much-loved civic space and one of Singapore's top attractions. Recent international accolades such as Time Magazine's choice of the Gardens as "Asia's Best Urban Jungle" and a three Michelin Star rating by the Michelin Green Guide bear testimony to the Gardens' enduring charm.

In line with the Gardens' mission of connecting plants and people, we have developed an exciting year-long programme that will provide opportunities for family and community bonding. The programme line-up brings together a diverse range of fun-filled events and activities aimed at providing Singaporeans with opportunities to reminisce, re-connect as well as celebrate.

April

A Tale of Two Gardens: Simultaneous Tree Planting Ceremony SBG & the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew
3 Apr (Fri), 5.30pm @ SBG and 9.30am @ Kew Gardens

A celebration to mark SBG's 150th Anniversary and Kew Gardens' 250th Anniversary.

SBG 150th Anniversary Commemorative Book Launch "Gardens of Perpetual Summer"
3 Apr (Fri), 5pm, Botany Centre Function Hall

A commemorative publication celebrating the Botanic Gardens and its legacy of accumulated achievements of 150 years. This is made possible by the kind support of Lady Yuen Peng McNeice.

"The Seed that Changed the World"
3 (Fri) – 30 (Thu) Apr, Botany Centre, Free admission

A public exhibition illustrating the seminal role that the Gardens played in pioneering an industry that forever changed the economic landscape of the region. This exhibition would not have been possible without the generous support of the Singapore Commodity Exchange and Mr Tan Jiew Hoe, President of Singapore Gardening Society.

May

An Open Conversation with Minister Mentor Lee Kuan Yew: Greening of A Nation
6 May (Wed), 6.30pm, Holttum Green

The Garden City would not have been realised without the vision and commitment of Minister Mentor and the early pioneers. Moderated by Ambassador Tommy Koh, this is a unique opportunity to hear Minister Mentor's thoughts on the inspiration, challenges and potential for Singapore as a Garden City.

June

Speak with Dr Jane Goodall & Friends
4 Jun (Thu), 9.30am, Botany Centre Function Hall

Gathering experts to address the current concerns on climate change & conservation issues, and the roles botanic gardens can play to help.

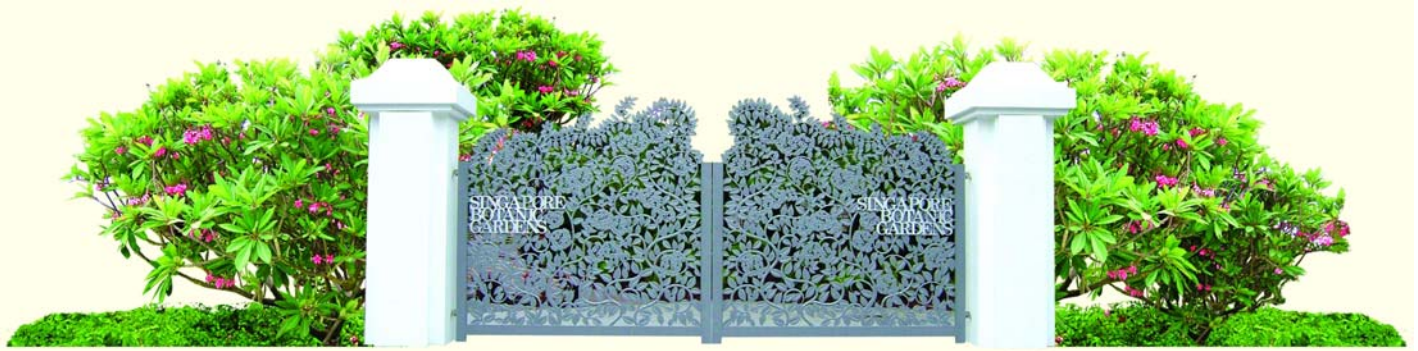

Green Generation Concert
5 Jun (Fri), 6.30pm, Shaw Foundation Symphony Stage, Free admission

Featuring a mixture of performances from local secondary schools and other local talents, with the intention to spread the message of conservation to youths and empower them to make a difference for the future. Organised in conjunction with the Jane Goodall Institute of Singapore (JGIS).

Launch of SBG 150th Anniversary Stamp Series
19 Jun (Fri), Botany Centre Green Pavilion

Singapore Post will be launching a First Day Cover stamp series featuring iconic landmarks & features of the Gardens. These familiar favourites include the Bandstand, the 5-dollar note Tembusu Tree, the Girl-on-a Swing sculpture & Singapore's National Flower, Vanda Miss Joaquim. The stamps are illustrated by Mr Eng Siak Loy, a well-known local designer and artist who has done many works on the Singapore Botanic Gardens.

12 - 21 Jun 2009, 9am - 6pm, Library of Botany & Horticulture, Botany Centre, SBG, Free admission

An exhibition of over 30 botanical quilts lovingly crafted by Ms Ira Joseph & friends. Ranging from 60 x 90 cm to 2.5m x 2.5m in size, these exquisite quilts are inspired by flora and fauna and iconic locations in the Botanic Gardens.

July

Garden stars

Bringing together students who will be guided by award-winning designers to design and build a permanent garden in SBG, the project aims to send a message of hope and inspiration that with hard work, commitment and passion one can be a "star" in an industry. The students will also be introduced to horticulture as a potential career path.

August

Two Minds, One Theory "Wallace & Darwin, the Two Faces of Evolution Theory" Exhibition

1 - 30 Aug 2009, 9am - 6pm, Library of Botany & Horticulture, Botany Centre, SBG, Free admission

2009 is the 200th birth-anniversary of Charles Darwin. The theory of evolution that changed the scientific world was simultaneously developed by Darwin and Alfred Russel Wallace. Wallace had visited Singapore and developed his ideas while on expeditions to this part of the world. This exhibition will tell their stories.
